Full Stack Software Developer

SUMMARY

My passion for technology and an unbridled sense of curiosity led me to pursue the wide, wonderful world of software development. I aim to apply my newfound skills to make beautiful, accessible applications for users to engage with.

Prior, I had been a practising graphic designer for over four years, specialising in print, packaging, and identity design. My goal throughout my career has been to facilitate the needs of small and large businesses, utilising e-commerce solutions and eDM marketing strategies to grow and reach new customers.

KEY SKILLS

Full Stack Website Development

Throughout the challenging seventeen-week code boot camp, I was pleasantly surprised by the extensive variety of new skills I had acquired and the vast wealth of knowledge I had gained. My proficiency with advanced tools such as React, JavaScript, TypeScript, SQLite 3, Redux, and Tailwind has deepened, and I now possess a profound understanding and appreciation of the intricacies of web development. I am eager to continue learning and expanding my expertise in this rapidly-evolving industry.

Soft Skills

I've had the pleasure of collaborating with a diverse group of individuals across various projects and professional settings. As a team leader, I've learned to cultivate a professional and approachable demeanor, which enables others to feel comfortable sharing their thoughts and concerns. Some of my strengths include clear communication, the ability to deliver engaging presentations to non-technical audiences, and a natural sense of empathy towards others. During my time at Dev Academy, I honed these skills and had the opportunity to practice giving constructive feedback and engaging in non-violent communication with my peers. The intensive nature of the program allowed me to further develop these abilities and improve upon my existing skill set.
